HACHETTE LIVRE ANNOUNCES LAUNCH OF GRADUATE CAREER SCHEME

The UK's leading book publishing group, Hachette Livre UK (HLUK), has announced the launch of its latest Graduate Career Scheme. The scheme, developed in partnership with graduate recruitment specialists GRADdirect, is designed to recruit talented individuals with sales, design or production experience and a passion for publishing.

Hachette Livre UK is the largest and perhaps most diversified book publisher in the UK. As part of our continued growth we have exciting opportunities for talented individuals to join our Graduate Career Scheme in design, sales and production.

The scheme, which will run over one year and starts in January 2008, offers excellent career progression opportunities for the recruits.

Hachette Livre's Karen O'Brien comments: "We are delighted to be launching our second Graduate Career Scheme. Everyone at HLUK is committed to delivering the best in publishing. People who are enthusiastic and hardworking, but looking for fun, will enjoy being part of our team and definitely should apply."

Dedicated to finding future leaders for a changing world, GRADdirect has developed an innovative recruitment campaign for HLUK that includes an advertising campaign and a dedicated micro-site (www.hlukgraduates.co.uk), where interested applicants can find out more and apply on-line.

Mark Milner, Head of Graduate Recruitment at Reed Manage Services, comments: "We are delighted to be working with HLUK for the second year running. HLUK is a great place to work and we are looking forward to continuing our partnership with Karen and her team over the coming months."
